Corporates are simplifying. Sponsors are recycling capital between each other. Public markets are a source, not a destination.

Volume in Industrials & TMT, value in banking

Financials carry the value on one deal: Intesa's move on Monte dei Paschi.

The German-UK-Nordic engine

Germany carves out. The UK takes private. The Nordics consolidate.

ITALY · FINANCIAL SERVICES

Intesa Sanpaolo → Monte dei Paschi

$33b

European bank consolidation is back. A 30.6bn euro combination, a 635-branch divestment, and an integration clock running from day one. Next domino: the Addiko Bank contest.

Capital is recycling, not sitting still

The exit route of the month was the secondary buyout, sponsor to sponsor:

Triton bought Flender from Carlyle. CVC bought Irca from Advent. Hellman & Friedman bought Hyve from Providence. Arcline bought Avantus from Inflexion.

Every hand-off resets a value-creation clock. That is a mandate-rich market.

Bank consolidation is the new headline

Corporates are simplifying, fast

Sponsors are trading with each other

Europe is on sale to global capital
